Picture Leadership Presented by Daniel Caron

There is a connection between photography and leadership that you can experience each time you pick up your camera or smartphone to take a photograph. Many characteristics that create good pictures can also help shape leadership. Examples include seeing things some people miss (vision) and examining new opportunities (exploration) for growth. Photography is an art that can craft individual moments while helping refine your leadership role. In this program, we will identify essential leadership aspects and de-velop better photography skills. Picture the possibilities.

Constitution Day: What Would Our Founding Fathers Say?

Is the U.S. Constitution still relevant in its current state? The Constitution is over 230 years old, and the events of the last few years make many people wonder whether the Constitution can continue to serve the needs of society effectively. Ask the authors of the Constitution what they think. Is it time for an update?

Suicide Task Force of Indiana County & QPR Training

Suicide affects us all. Every year, millions of Americans are directly affected by the more than 45,000 suicides and hundreds of thousands of suicide attempts made by friends or loved ones. The Suicide Task Force of Indiana County deals with awareness, prevention, intervention, and postvention, with each committee working towards ending suicide. This program will train attendees to help them learn how to prevent suicide.

Celebrating Coming Out Day: A Conversation & Book Signing with Lenny Pinna, Co-Author of A Face From Uranus and Director of Letters to Uranus

Join author and director Lenny Pinna to discuss his works, including his book, film, and proposed TV series. Pinna's book, A Face From Uranus, shares the story of a nineteen-year-old in World War II era 1943 struggling with his gender identity. After receiving a draft notice, Tedd, the 19-year-old, reaches out to Henry Bellamann, author of the best-selling 1940 novel Kings Row, for advice. Tedd imagines that the author who wrote sympathetically in his novel about a boy who was "too pretty for a boy" might be able to help him in some way. And he's right. Henry responds, initiating a warm correspondence that deepens into a relationship that lasts until Henry's death in 1945. This book publishes all the letters from Tedd and Henry's correspondence for the first time. Pinna will participate in a book signing after the presentation.

Into the Archives: Shakespeare Unbound

Please join us for a special presentation about the works of William Shakespeare, featuring rare books from the IUP Special Collections and University Archives. Presenters will include English doctoral students Jordan Hansen and Meghan N. Cronin, who studied at the Shakespeare Institute at Stratford-upon-Avon, and Dr. Christopher Orchard from the IUP English Department. Dr. Harrison Wick, the Special Collections Librarian and University Archivist, will discuss several editions of Shakespeare available for research, including rare books and illustrations. This is the 10th Into the Archives event; a collaborative outreach activity brought to you by the University Libraries and the IUP English Department to promote the archival resources and rare books available for research in the IUP Special Collections and University Archives.

11/06

Meaningful Conversations

During this session, individuals will focus on dissecting the art, power, and skill of networking. Attendees will be equipped with high-level communication skills and strategies to grow a brand. IUP alumnus Lou Mobley and his colleague Dre Moore, hosts of the More Than a Dad podcast, will present this program.

Honoring Veterans Day

Join us as we honor those who have served and are currently serving our nation in the military. Current IUP members who have served will discuss their career in the armed forces and how it relates to their experiences at IUP.
