The White family, in Indiana, PA lost everything in their barn/storage building that has been in the family for decades due to a fire. This also included an add on which contained around 15 pigs (2 moms and the rest were 4 weeks or younger). The building happened to be a place where a lot of small construction projects happened, where they would raise pigs and previous animals such as horses, sheep, and goats, and stored everything the animals needed. It is such a huge loss to them as this was a huge part of them and their daily activities. They lost farm equipment, all sorts of tools, utilities (fridges, freezers, etc.), lawn mower, hoses and their show box for the fair with everything in it. All pigs were perished except one which went to a local family-friend farm for the meantime. There is a very sad little boy who lost his 4-11 pigs to show at the fair.
